INTRODUCTION

With our photographic safaris and workshops, we at RAW Photographic insist on delivering nothing but the best experience possible for our guests. Not only do we want to ensure a fun, educational and meaningful wildlife experience - it's also important that we do so in a way that's driven by authenticity and ethics. A lot of research and effort goes into designing and building our products and we only partner with those who mirror our ambitions in delivering great experiences whilst also remaining respectful to the land, wildlife and cultures we're visiting.

Photographic safaris often get a bad reputation for being elitist and costing a fortune - and whilst there's certainly evidence of that out there, our mission statement is to counteract this notion. Yes, we work with wildlife and photography - but that doesn't mean it has to cost the world.

Whilst still working in some of Africa's most desired and premier hot-spots for wildlife, our aim is to keep our products as affordable as possible whilst not skimping on the value. All our trips are as inclusive as possible and are hosted by one of our professional photographers for bespoke photographic tuition and to ensure everything sails smoothly - making sure that you have nothing to worry about other than making sure your batteries are charged and memory cards aplenty!

We want nothing more than for our guests to feel confident and at ease with every moment of their experience with us - from the early stages of booking to the final airport goodbyes, so we implement an open door policy where we welcome and promote any and all questions, so please don't hesitate to get in touch with us regarding anything.

ABOUT AMBOSELI

Amboseli National Park, formerly Maasai Amboseli Game Reserve, was originally established as a game reserve in 1948 and covered 1,259 square miles northwest of Kilimanjaro in Tanzania. In 1974 a little more than 10 percent of the reserve was established as the Amboseli National Park, with an area of 151 square miles.

Centred on Lake Amboseli, normally dry with a flat basin of alkaline soils, the park encompasses multiple habitats: open plains, wetlands, thornbush country, and acacia woodland. A great variety of wildlife inhabits the park including baboons, lions, cheetahs, hippopotamuses, Maasai giraffes, buffalo, oryx, wildebeests, gerenuk, impalas, and gazelles.

Amboseli is also a fantastic destination for birds with more than 400 species having been recorded. The swamps are great for water-associated birds such as egrets, herons, pelicans and crowned cranes. Large numbers of flamingos may be present in the wet seasons (March to May and October to December) and the park is host to possibly Africa's most sought-after bird - the Shoebill.

However, Amboseli is synonymous with two particular things – large herds of elephants and epic views of Mount Kilimanjaro in neighbouring Tanzania.

The park currently holds the largest number of elephants in the whole of Africa and, alongside the wandering Big Tuskers, truly earns its nickname as 'The Lands Of Giants'. Amboseli NP has for a long time been the singular location for professional photographers needing dramatic photographs of elephants - the Kenyan big skies, dry lake beds and open savannahs prove themselves to be the perfect natural set to photograph these iconic giants in all their glory.

And what better backdrop than that of the epic Mount Kilimanjaro? With weather permitting, sightings and photographs are immediately elevated by being under the shadow of such a colossal natural feature - it's hard to get your breath back once you see it in the flesh.

WILDLIFE PHOTOGRAPHY

Amboseli is a treasure trove for photographic opportunities and potential, and with an extended stay of 6 nights, we aim to make the most out of what is on our doorstep! From the vast bird life and stoic scenery to marching elephants, hunting lions and soothing sunsets - our mission is to truly explore what makes this park so special.

Game drives are conducted throughout the year at optimum viewing times when game activity is generally at its peak, i.e. early morning and late afternoon into evening. The morning safari departs at sunrise, and the evening drive leaves late enough in the afternoon for guests to enjoy a bush sunset and the opportunity to view nocturnal animals after dark.

We will be utilising a private 4x4 landcruiser and field guide, meaning we have complete control and maximum flexibility to get the best photographs possible. Our photographic group will comprise a maximum of four guests, to ensure extra space and comfort whilst on game drive.

A smaller group also means that more attentive and focused photographic guidance and tuition is possible. This includes in-the-field guidance and support, making sure you not only don't miss a beat, but also discover new creative skills and techniques to elevate your photography. Back at the lodge between drives is the perfect time and location to look at photo cataloging and processing. Open up your laptop and we can look for ways to further improve and streamline your editing skills in Adobe Lightroom and Photoshop.... or alternatively we can go over photography basics such as creative composition, the exposure triangle and freezing the action depending on your needs and wants.

Your game drives will be conducted by one of the local field guides with plenty of experience and knowledge of the flora and fauna of the area. They will be the one sharing animal information to help build your knowledge and appreciation of everything you come across. This, plus Sam's photographic guidance, means you get the best of both worlds for an unparalleled photographic safari experience in one of Africa's best wildlife viewing hot-spots.

ABOUT THE HOST

Samuel Cox has been a professional wildlife photographer for over a decade, photographing the flora and fauna of Zambia, Zimbabwe, Eswatini and South Africa - the last being a country he considers as a second home. Sam spent four years living in Africa amidst the wildlife and on the doorstep of the famous Kruger National Park, teaching international guests the specifics of wildlife photography and aiding conservation initiatives.

Over the years he's seen his photography and writing published across various platforms through the likes of National Geographic, BBC Wildlife Magazine, Travel Africa, Wildcard Magazine and Africa Geographic. However, it's in his ability to teach that he finds the most reward, and has had great success in seeing hundreds of photography guests develop their creative and technical skills under his mentoring.

Sam will meet you in Nairobi before departing for Amboseli, making sure everything is in order for your photographic safari. He'll be with you every step of the way to make sure that you're not only getting an abundance of photographic guidance, but to also ensure that the trip runs as smoothly as possible; handling travel logistics and being in constant communication with head office should an emergency arise.

He'll be providing in-the-field photographic guidance as well editing and photo tuition back at the lodge, making sure that you leave with a brand new portfolio of fantastic images.

ITINERARY

DAY 1

The safari starts in Nairobi where Sam will meet you at the airport before catching a short domestic flight to Amboseli. This flight is approx. 1hr in duration but can be shorter depending on weather conditions. Upon arrival in Amboseli, we'll be picked up and taken to our lodge. You'll arrive and be welcomed, after which we'll all enjoy lunch together. You'll have the opportunity to settle into camp and then we'll regroup later in the afternoon for our afternoon safari. The game drive will see us exploring and being introduced to the Amboseli National Park, and after a quick drink stop, will take us into the early evening where we'll look for active predators and nocturnal wildlife. We'll get back to camp around 19:30 to enjoy drinks before a hearty dinner shared with quality conversation.

Please note that accommodation in Nairobi has not been included.

DAY 2 - 6

Game drives start early in Africa. We'll head out around sunrise to take advantage of first light and the ensuing morning golden hour. Our focus will be on finding the best photographic subjects and wildlife experiences we can get; from looking for the large herds of elephants, occasional birding and of course, keeping on the lookout for predators. Having a private vehicle means the world is our oyster and we'll decide as a group what's the best focus for each game drive.

We'll get back to camp in the mid to late morning for a delicious buffet breakfast and some time to relax. This is also the perfect time to work with Sam on your photography and editing skills and questions. Lunch will be followed by our second daily game drive, of which we will be following up any sightings or information from previous drives - making sure that we stop at sunsets for the iconic sundowners experience. Dinner will follow as usual later in the evening upon return back to the lodge.

DAY 7

We'll head out for our final game drive and exploration of Amboseli before returning back for breakfast. We aim to head out in the late morning for the airstrip, so it's a good idea to pack the night before to save time and further enjoy your final hours in Amboseli. After arriving at the airstrip, we'll fly back to Nairobi to say our goodbyes.
