INTRODUCTION

With our photographic safaris and workshops, we at RAW Photographic insist on delivering nothing but the best experience possible for our guests. Not only do we want to ensure a fun, educational and meaningful wildlife experience - it's also important that we do so in a way that's driven by authenticity and ethics. A lot of research and effort goes into designing and building our products and we only partner with those who mirror our ambitions in delivering great experiences whilst also remaining respectful to the land, wildlife and cultures we're visiting.

Photographic safaris often get a bad reputation for being elitist and costing a fortune - and whilst there's certainly evidence of that out there, our mission statement is to counteract this notion. Yes, we work with wildlife and photography - but that doesn't mean it has to cost the world.

Whilst still working in some of Africa's most desired and premier hot-spots for wildlife, our aim is to keep our products as affordable as possible whilst not skimping on the value. All our trips are as inclusive as possible and are hosted by one of our professional photographers for bespoke photographic tuition and to ensure everything sails smoothly - making sure that you have nothing to worry about other than making sure your batteries are charged and memory cards aplenty!

We want nothing more than for our guests to feel confident and at ease with every moment of their experience with us - from the early stages of booking to the final airport goodbyes, so we implement an open door policy where we welcome and promote any and all questions, so please don't hesitate to get in touch with us regarding anything.

ABOUT SABI SANDS

Sabi Sands is often lauded as the most prestigious private reserve in South Africa, perhaps due to the reserve's longstanding conservation efforts. The original reserve was proclaimed back in 1898 and by 1949 the landowners had merged their properties (mostly ex-agricultural land) into what is now the Sabi Sands Game Reserve.

The huge 650km² private reserve shares unfenced borders on the western boundaries of the Kruger National Park allowing animals to roam freely between the reserves. Thanks to the re-purposing of boreholes previously used for the farms into waterholes for wildlife, Sabi Sands can offer a year-round water source not affected by seasonal changes. This means you're never far away from spotting the Big Five and the hundreds of other species that make up the greater Kruger population at any time of the year.

The Sabi Sands is renowned for the Big Five (Lion, Leopard, Elephant, Buffalo and Rhino). In fact it was in the Sabi Sands where the hunting concept that is the Big Five was rekindled as a photo safari term. So successful was this term marketed in the photo safari arena that today it is taken as the apex of wildlife viewing whilst on safari in Africa.

Lions roaming the open plains in their pride and rhinoceros congregating in front of your eyes are a sight to behold, but there's one animal in particular that shares a unique bond with Sabi Sands. Leopards, the most elusive of the big cats and normally solitary creatures, are much easier to spot in the brushwood than they are in many other leopard reserves. They still favour a big tree, which they use as an observation platform or a resting place, but you can get within two metres of them before they run away. This unique, relaxed reaction is the result of the ban on hunting, which has lasted for over half a century. Several generations of leopards have never heard a gunshot, or had a reason to fear humans, so their passive attitude is a mixture of indifference and comfort.

WILDLIFE PHOTOGRAPHY

Sabi Sands is one of the most sought after locations for photographers and nature enthusiasts looking for the best of the best. Elephants, rhinos and buffalos are common place and never cease to amaze, whilst predators such as lions, wild dog and the iconic leopard are the main reason why Sabi Sands is so popular and highly regarded. Of course, with all these animals and predators sharing the same territories - it's a melting pot of animal interactions and hunting.

Game drives are conducted throughout the year at optimum viewing times when game activity is generally at its peak, i.e. early morning and late afternoon into evening. The morning safari departs at sunrise, and the evening drive leaves late enough in the afternoon for guests to enjoy a bush sunset and the opportunity to view nocturnal animals after dark.

We will be utilising a private 4x4 landcruiser and field guide, meaning we have complete control and maximum flexibility to get the best photographs possible. Our photographic group will comprise a maximum of three guests, to ensure extra space and comfort whilst on game drive.

A smaller group also means that more attentive and focused photographic guidance and tuition is possible. This includes in-the-field guidance and support, making sure you not only don't miss a beat, but also discover new creative skills and techniques to elevate your photography. Back at the lodge between drives is the perfect time and location to look at photo cataloging and processing. Open up your laptop and we can look for ways to further improve and streamline your editing skills in Adobe Lightroom and Photoshop... or alternatively we can go over photography basics such as creative composition, the exposure triangle and freezing the action depending on your needs and wants.

Your game drives will be conducted by one of the local field guides with plenty of experience and knowledge of the flora and fauna of the area. They will be the one sharing animal information to help build your knowledge and appreciation of everything you come across. This, plus photographic guidance, means you get the best of both worlds for an unparalleled photographic safari experience in one of South Africa's best game reserves.

ABOUT THE HOST

Samuel Cox has been a professional wildlife photographer for over a decade, photographing the flora and fauna of Zambia, Zimbabwe, Eswatini and South Africa - the last being a country he considers as a second home. Sam spent four years living in Africa amidst the wildlife and on the doorstep of the famous Kruger National Park, teaching international guests the specifics of wildlife photography and aiding conservation initiatives.

Over the years he's seen his photography and writing published across various platforms through the likes of National Geographic, BBC Wildlife Magazine, Travel Africa, Wildcard Magazine and Africa Geographic. However, it's in his ability to teach that he finds the most reward, and has had great success in seeing hundreds of photography guests develop their creative and technical skills under his mentoring.

Sam will meet you at Kruger Mpumalanga International Airport before departing for Sabi Sands, making sure everything is in order for your photographic safari. He'll be with you every step of the way to make sure that you're not only getting an abundance of photographic guidance, but to also ensure that the trip runs as smoothly as possible; handling travel logistics and being in constant communication with head office should an emergency arise.

He'll be providing in-the-field photographic guidance as well editing and photo tuition back at the lodge, making sure that you leave with a brand new portfolio of fantastic images.

OUR LODGE IN SABI SANDS

Umkumbe Bush Lodge will be your home away from home in the southern section of the Sabi Sands. Resting comfortably under a canopy of indigenous trees, this luxury tented camp offers all the creature comforts from home, and is the first of its kind in the reserve. The build of the lodge is based on the idea of glamping, but with a luxurious twist.

Elevated on wooden decks, each suite has its own private balcony and is fully equipped for a comfortable bushveld glamping retreat. Built around a weeping boer-bean, the main lodge overlooks a variety of habitats - a winding drainage line leading to the seasonal Sand River, a forested thicket and a section of open savanna. Built around a beautiful Jackalberry tree, the main lodge features a well-stocked bar, a large pool and sun lounge area, tea/coffee station, various secluded lounge areas, wildlife lookout points, open-air dining area, beautiful garden grounds, a public restroom, upstairs games room and a classic boma/campfire.

ACCOMMODATION

Named after different indigenous trees found in the region, the stylish accommodation and spacious tented suites are all positioned on private raised wooden decks nestled in nature. All suites are ensuit and come equipped with tea/coffee station, standing fan, air con, hand luggage stand, hair dryer, mosquito net, safe, bathroom amenities, changeable twin/double bed configurations and a private seating area on a raised wooden deck.

Guests will have an entire tent to themselves for ultimate space and privacy, ensuring the most comfortable stay possible.

SUNDOWNERS AND DINING

A sundowner in Africa is simply a 'happy hour' during sunset over the African Savanna. It's a classic safari tradition dating back to the colonial days. As you finish your afternoon game drive, your guide will take you to a beautiful and remote location in the bush. You may find yourself on a hilltop overlooking the savanna or next to a waterhole watching the wildlife come for their last drink of the day.

Breakfast and lunch will be served alfresco at the main lodge on private tables and the evening dinner will be hosted in the boma area around a central roaring fire.

ITINERARY

DAY 1

The safari starts at Kruger Mpumalanga International airport just outside Nelspruit where Sam will meet you before catching a ground transfer to Sabi Sands. The drive is approximately two hours long and we aim to arrive at our lodge just after noon.

Upon arrival you'll arrive and be welcomed and given the tour of your new home away from home. You'll have the opportunity to settle in and then we'll regroup later in the afternoon for some high-tea and our first afternoon safari. The game drive will see us exploring and being introduced to the Sabi Sands game reserve, and after a quick drink stop, will take us into the early evening where we'll look for active predators and nocturnal wildlife. We'll get back to camp around 19:30 to enjoy drinks before a hearty dinner shared with quality conversation.

DAY 2 - 6

Game drives start early in Africa. We'll head out around sunrise to take advantage of first light and the ensuing morning golden hour. Our focus will be on finding the best photographic subjects and wildlife experiences we can get; from looking for the large herds of elephants, occasional birding and of course, keeping on the lookout for predators. Having a private vehicle means the world is our oyster and we'll decide as a group what's the best focus for each game drive.

We'll get back to camp in the mid to late morning for a delicious breakfast and some time to relax. This is also the perfect time to work with Sam on learning more about your photography and editing skills. Our second daily game drive will see us following up any sightings or information from previous drives - making sure that we stop at sunsets for the iconic sundowners experience. Dinner will follow as usual later in the evening upon return back to the lodge.

DAY 7

We'll head out for our final game drive and exploration of Sabi Sands before returning back for breakfast. We aim to head out at about 10am so as to arrive back at the airport for noon, so it's a good idea to pack the night before to save time and further enjoy your final hours at the lodge. After arriving back at the airport, we'll say our goodbyes.
